

Neil Mitchell, Vice Chair

Neil joined the board of Project Renewal in 1997 and was elected as Vice Chair in 2009. He is an Executive Director with Morgan Stanley's Private Wealth Management division. Prior to joining Morgan Stanley in 2008, Neil worked at Lehman Brothers in the Private Investment Management division for 24 years. Neil works with wealthy individuals, families, family offices, foundations, estates and trusts. His clients include leaders in the business world and entertainment industry, and his expertise lies in investment advice as it applies to investment policy, asset allocation, manager selection and risk management.

Neil also serves on the board of Central Synagogue in New York City where he chairs the investment committee and is responsible for the investment policy and management of the institution's endowment. Neil received his B.S. from Lehigh University, concentrating in Economics and Finance. He lives in Manhattan and Pound Ridge with his wife and three children.